

Announcement: Chairman retirement

Waterman 2015 and beyond

I am writing to inform you that after 21 years as Chairman of Waterman (Australia), I have made the decision to retire this May 2015.

Over this time, Waterman has grown to become one of the leaders in the consulting engineering industry in Australia and has worked on many large and prestigious projects across a diverse range of industry sectors including commercial, health, retail, residential, education, recreation and industrial.

Waterman has built a strong management structure and culture that strives for engineering excellence in our projects, as well as providing a quality consulting service to our clients.

Waterman's new senior management team in the Sydney office will comprise:

Ben North
Managing Director

Ben has been with the company for 16 years and has been a Director for the last 8 years. Ben has worked in the Sydney, Brisbane and London offices. He has been a significant influence in the growth and success of our business in the technology, education and buildings sectors and has been a key factor in our successful delivery of some of the state's major facilities.

Richard Nicolliello
Director of Operations

Richard has also been with the company for 15 years and has been a Director for the last 6 years in the Sydney office, Richard has worked on a number of major commissions in the commercial, retail, education, residential and commercial sectors. For a number of years Richard has been responsible for the Electrical group within the office and overall resource management.

Our Sydney office has recently relocated to new premises in the city at 31 Hunter Street to accommodate future expansion of our team who look forward in welcoming you there when you next visit us.

Finally, I would like to express my thanks for your ongoing support of both Waterman and myself over many years and trust that you will continue to provide the same support to Ben, Richard and the Waterman team in the future.

John North
